The incident, a peculiar one, and one which was lealingly alluded to at the time by Rev. Mr. Skinner, the pastor, has been made the subject of some skeptical comment by persons who supposed it was a preconcerted affair. They err in such a supposition. The incident did occur as stated, and what renders it more peculiar is the fact that the grandfather of the boy, a few minutes before the dove appeared, in listening to the clergyman, began to consider, montally. clergyman, began to consider, montally, the question whether the baptismal service was really acceptable to heaven, and, it it was, to wonder why no visible sign might not be given, as was done to Joun and the assembled multitude when Christ was baptized, and a dove de-scended. A few moments later this dove did actually appear, as stated. Regarding the two facts simply as coin-cidences, it is at least a cursous coinci-dence. The boy's mother was alarmed and afflicted at such a seeming sign, but she had no cause to apprehend any evil."

The Devil in a New Dress.

The Rochester Union of Monday has this story: "On Saturday last a man purporting to be engaged in peddling a superior article of blueing for laundry work called at a house on Platt street, and solicited the lady to purchase some of it. He exhibited a sample of the blueing in solution, which he carried in a tin pail. The lady, not wishing to purchase anything of the kind, declined to examine into its merits, and peremptorily refused to buy any. He, however, insisted upon leaving some of the stuff for her to try. She took the package, which was done up in coarse brown paper. On opening the parcel it was found to contain, not blueing, but a mixture of fine gunpowder, some of the coarse grained powder used for blasting, and a quantity of brown, sawdust-like substance resembling dynamits. Board of Equalization.

This Board met yesterday afternoon, President Mullane in the chair, and all the members present. The following, offered by Mr. W. B. Cassilly, was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Auditor is hereby directed to add to the returns of all Building Associations the amount of mortgages or loans held by them, that they may be taxed the same as Individuais,or other corporations, in like cases."

As to the compensation of the Board, clerks, receivers, messengers, &c., it was inally agreed to allow the members $200, and all other employes $5 per day.

In its final report to Council the Board stated that they have issued 1,415 citations, and, upon examination of parties. tious, and, upon examination of parties, have added to the ouplicate $2,108,000. Or, by taking the directory, we find about 110,000 names of adults in the city, and it would be but reasonable to estimate that a fair proportion of these is evemore than $50 worth of personal prop mate that a fair proportion of these heve more than $50 worth of personal prop-erty. And yet we find only 15.728 names on the entire tax-list of the city. It is evident the system of assessing and col-lecting taxes is imperfect, and at least one person is exempted for every one that pays his portion of the city ex-

We are informed that large amounts of assessments are in the hands of the Treasurer, which is not forced to a col-lection. This deprives the city of a large revenue which it is either entitled to receive or should be forced to a final decision by the courts; and such provision should be made by law as will cause it to be done.

We are of opinion that if a proper system was adopted the tax would not be over two per cent, and yet yield more revenue than is now received, as the duplicate would be so much increased. All of which we most respectfully sub-
